

Closing Remarks and Acknowledgments

We have now come to the end of my description of the inner path toward unity with God.

I hope the reflections in this online book have touched something within you and made the path toward God more tangible for you.

Perhaps they have also given you confidence that you, too, can find God within yourself.

If you feel that this path might also be significant for you, then it is now time to find a beginning.

Don't worry too much about what may lie ahead.

When we drive at night, we only need two things:

- We need to know that we are driving in the right direction.
- And we need light for the next 50 meters to see the road ahead.

It is the same on the inner path.

Establish a regular time for meditation in your daily life, and give yourself mindful moments throughout the day.

Keep reading about the mystical path – what is essential for you at the moment will resonate within you.

If your motivation is to let God and His love come alive in you, then His power and guidance will become increasingly present in your life.

Be curious to see how your state of being and your life begin to change.

Let yourself be guided – and carried by God.

Contact and Feedback

I would be truly happy to receive feedback, a few personal words, or the opportunity to meet you at a workshop or another occasion.

Thomas Schuh

info@baum-des-leben.org

Acknowledgment and Dedication

I am infinitely grateful to God, our Heavenly Parents, for the gifts of grace and the revelation of this inner path.

I would like to dedicate this book to Sun Myung Moon who guided me to this path.

Thank you Heavenly Parents!

Source URL:

<https://baum-des-lebens.org/the-inner-path/closing-remarks-and-acknowledgments>